FLINN APPEARS AT WAR CHEST PROBE

Bull Moose Boss Gives Inside Facts About Teddy's Expenses

ANSWERS PENROSE'S CHARGES

Denies Having Offered $1,000,000 for Senatorial Toga—Inquiry Shows Flinn Gave $144,308 to the Campaign

Washington, Oct. 1.—William Flinn, of Pittsburg, Roosevelt leader and Progressive National Committeeman in Pennsylvania, and Elon H. Hooker, of New York, treasurer of the Progressive National Committee, today gave the Senate Campaign Expenditures Committee some inside facts about the primary expenses of the Roosevelt campaign for the Republican nomination at Chicago.

Mr. Flinn appeared not only to tell of his contributions, but to answer the charges Senator Penrose made last August that Mr. Flinn offered $1,000,000 to him and Israel W. Durham in 1904 for the Pennsylvania Senatorial appointment to succeed M. S. Quay; and that in the same fight Mr. Flinn exchanged telegrams with John D. Archbold, of the Standard Oil Company, asking his support.

The Pittsburg man declared that if Senator Penrose made the first statement "he lied." As to the other he produced J. G. Splain, of Pittsburg, who testified that he "thought" he had signed Mr. Flinn's name to the telegram to Mr. Archbold June 7th, 1904; and that he and not Mr. Flinn had handled the telegrams with Mr. Archbold, and had attempted to secure the Standard Oil inuence in Mr. Flinn's support.

Prodded by Senator Pomerene, of Ohio, who demanded a specific answer, Mr. Flinn admitted having written an agreement in January, 1896, in which Senator Quay, J. O. Brown and Mr. Flinn proposed to divide up the Federal and local patronage of Pennsylvania. He declared he had "goldbricked" Senator Quay; that he never had signed or intended to sign the agreement, and that he had written it only to allay Senator Quay's opposition to the Republican candidate for mayor of Pittsburg.

The investigation brought out the fact that Mr. Flinn had this year contributed $144,308 to the Roosevelt, the Republican and the Progressive campaigns in Pennsylvania. Mr. Hooker, who preceded him on the witness stand, produced records to show that the Roosevelt National Committee had spent $141,657 in the entire National primary campaign preceding the Chicago convention. Over $52,000 of this sum went to Massachusetts, for the bitter primary fight there.

Mr. Hooker also produced the records of the New York primary campaign, where the Roosevelt forces spent $52,606. The records showed that George W. Perkins had given $15,000 to the New York and $22,500 to the National campaign; Frank A. Munsey $15,000 to the New York and $19,000 to the National campaign, and D. R. Hanna $25,000 to the National campaign.

Mr. Flinn apportioned but $99,384 as "Roosevelt expenditures" in the statement he gave the committee of the sums he had contributed this year. Other items given for the election of candidates brought the total of his Roosevelt contribution up to $102,000; and he admitted that he had contributed 90 per cent of the money spent to carry the State for Roosevelt in the primaries. He added that he believed the end sought, a change of conditions in Pennsylvania, was "worth the price."

The committee will hear Senator Joseph M. Dixon, manager of Colonel Roosevelt's campaign since its beginning last February. J. G. Cannon, president of the Fourth National Bank of New York, who audited the books of Cornelius N. Bliss; George R. Sheldon, treasurer of the Republican National Committee in 1908, and John R. Weeks, Congressional campaign contributions, are also expected to testify during the day.

Cheapest Petty Larceny—Dixon.

New York, Oct. 1.—United States Senator Joseph M. Dixon, chairman of the Progressive National Committee, left for Washington tonight to appear before the Senate committee investigating campaign contributions.

"I am going to make them put the cards on the table," declared Senator Dixon. "I am not going to let them make it appear that Theodore Roosevelt accepted large campaign contributions from corporations and people who contributed for favors. I will force them to subpoena Charles P. Taft, Charles D. Hilles, George Harvey, William G. McAdoo and William F. McCombs.

"If they refuse to call the men I name it will convict the committee of the cheapest petty larceny game that has ever been played on the American people.

"There are a thousand plutocrats behind Wilson and Taft, and because a couple of wealthy men gave money to Roosevelt's campaign they are instituting this investigation. After they get through with Roosevelt they will adjourn or try to adjourn without trying to bring out the sources of the Wilson and Taft campaign."

The Senator asserted that he would ask the committee to call the managers for Oscar W. Underwood and Champ Clark and Governor Harmon. "The Seaboard Air Line and the Southern Pacific gave up for Underwood's pre-convention campaign, and I am going to give to the committee the name of the man that 'tapped the till' for Underwood," declared the Senator.

Gave to Two Funds.

Washington, Oct. 1.—E. H. Hooker, treasurer of the Progressive party, told the committee that Charles R. Crane, of Chicago, had contributed $70,000 to Senator LaFollette's campaign fund and $70,000 to Governor Wilson's fund prior to the Baltimore convention practically at the same time.

Wilson Knows Nothing of It.

Princeton, N. J., Oct. 1.—Governor Wilson said tonight he knew nothing of the $10,000 contribution metioned by Mr. Hooker as having been made by Charles R. Crane, of Chicago, to the Wilson pre-convention campaign fund.

THREE KILLED BY EXPLOSION

Library of Congress,

Lieut. Donald P. ... and Two Machinists' Mates ... in Accident on the Tor... Boat Destroyer Walke.

Newport, R. I., Oct. 1.—The explosion of the forward end of the port turbine, together with the steam chest of the torpedo boat destroyer Walke at sea, near here, today instantly killed Lieut. Donald P. Morrison, of Washington, D. C., the chief engineer, and wounded eight others, two of whom, J. W. Rumph, of Columbus, O., and H. L. Wilder, of Orlando, Fla., both machinists' mates of the first class, died later on the hospital ship Solace.

E. B. Crawford, gunner's mate of the destroyer Patterson, one of the umpires named to watch the speed tests of the Walke, and John Delaney, first class fireman of the Walke, were said to be in a critical condition tonight. Others injured are Lieut. Robert L. Montgomery, of the destroyer Fanning, and umpire of the speed tests; D. S. Kelly, chief machinists' mate; W. E. Kraus, oiler; F. B. Conway, oiler.

The explosion came just as the Walke started on a full speed contest in company with other destroyers of the third group.

The discipline of the crew is said to have been perfect and their conduct in leaping down into the steam-filled engine room to carry out their wounded comrades brought the highest praise from their superiors. Lieut. Charles R. Train, the commanding officer, on the bridge at the time, handled the situation in a way to gain personal commendation from Rear Admiral Osterhaus, commander-in-chief of the Atlantic fleet, who boarded the destroyer later. A board of inquest held on board the Walke found that her port turbine was destroyed. She came into harbor under her own steam and will go to the New York navy yard for repairs. It is believed she will be able to take part in the great naval review in New York this month.

Commended for Bravery.

New York, Oct. 1.—Lieut. Donald P. Morrison, killed aboard the Walke, met death on the day a letter addressed to him by the acting Secretary of the Navy commending his courageous action in jumping overboard from the Walke September 22nd last and rescuing from drowning an enlisted man. This letter, which Admiral Andrews wrote today, was in the mail when the news of the explosion reached here.

Lieut. Morrison was the son of the late Major Jasper Morrison, of the Judge Advocate General's department and his mother, who was on a visit in the South, still makes her home here. Besides his mother, Lieut. Morrison is survived by a bride of a year. He was born in Missouri 25 years ago.

Harry Lee Wilder, machinist's mate, was 28 years old and a native of Sparks, Nev. His father, Robert L. Wilder, lives at Orlando, Fla. Admiral Osterhaus reported to the Navy Department that the forward end and steam chest of the port turbine of the Walke blew out when she was starting a full power trial, and naval experts at once became greatly interested as a similar explosion is not on record in naval annals.

COTTON PICKERS MAKE GOOD

Price-Campbell Machines Are Being Tried at Laurinburg

Laurinburg, N. C., Oct. 1.—The Price-Campbell cotton pickers moving up and down the cotton rows on one side of the road with a score of negroes on the other side picking cotton by hand bring brute force and the inventive skill of man in vivid contrast, and is witnessed by hundreds daily in the fields here. Mr. Theodore H. Price, of New York, is here directing the demonstration, which will last for about a week longer, rain being the only thing that will prevent daily work. That cotton can be picked by machine is proven, ninety per cent picked every time the machine goes over it, is the claim and it is making good. Your correspondent saw one row double picked and he does not believe there was one per cent of cotton left. The stalk was left uninjured, open blooms and morning glory blossoms being left intact. The picked cotton is fully as clean as that picked by the negro on the other side of the road. Men, women and children follow the machines down the long rows wondering, but convinced. Darius Green made good and the cotton-picker man is in his class.

SIMMONS IS HEARD BY GREAT AUDIENCE

SPOKE NEARLY THREE HOURS

Comprehensive Review of His Political Record, Complete Answer To His Critics and Able Discussion of The Issues

Addressing himself to an audience variously estimated at from twelve to fifteen hundred, United States Senator F. M. Simmons, in the Academy of Music here last night, spoke for more than two hours and a half in a most comprehensive review of his entire political record in North Carolina during the past twenty years, answered most effectively the criticisms that have been directed towards him in his campaign for re-election to the Senate and discussed with ability and enthusiasm the issues now before the people for determination at the polls, both State and National. The audience well filled the two lower galleries of the theatre, while many were seated upon the stage and not a few overflowed from the parquet to the foyer of the theatre. It was a most representative audience, too, and was composed of both ladies and gentlemen. Although necessarily long, the speech of the Senator was given attentive hearing and there can be no doubt but that he made a most favorable impression. His speech was perhaps more comprehensive than any of those yet delivered in the campaign for the Senate and his friends are delighted with the unanswerable argument, which they hold he presented on every issue and every point thus far raised in the contest for the high office to which he aspires.

It was 8:15 o'clock when the meeting was called to order by Col. Walker Taylor, who presided and opened the programme with a brief address in which he explained that the meeting was purely a Democratic gathering; that there were no reserved seats on the rostrum and those who were standing in the aisles would be welcome to one of the seats upon the stage. He congratulated those before him on their presence which he construed was an indication that they were willing to join hands in retaining the present able, brilliant and remarkable United States Senator. He presented very gracefully "the young and brilliant ex-State Senator from New Hanover, Brooke G. Empie, Esq., whom he said would present Mr. Simmons.

The genial State Senator, of course, opened his remarks with a cracking good story and it was of an aspiring young lawyer who devoted two hours and ten minutes to an introduction of a speaker, leaving the speaker but ten minutes for the main address. He knew no man who had achieved greater things, who had in the same time acquired the same power and reputation in the National Houses of Representatives than had Senator Sommons. He stands today the leader of the Senate, a distinction that had come to no other Democrat, to no other Southerner in this generation. He recited briefly and happily how Mr. Simmons had wrung from an adverse majority action upon a tariff bill that had placed the Republican party in the pitiable condition in which it finds itself today. He was a man who had fought Democracy's battles for 25 years and he referred to the fact that after these battles he is now told he is not a Democrat. However, it was from those who wanted office and for that reason Mr. Simmons was none the less a Democrat for that. Mr. Empie traced briefly the career of Mr. Simmons and recited his services to the party in the past. For 14 years Mr. Simmons had led North Carolina Democracy and for those 14 years Democracy had triumphed at the polls. He described rather vividly a brief history of Mr. Simmons' participance in politics before and after 1898 and concluded with the happy assertion that he introduced to his audience "the Senator that is and the Senator that is to be—Furnifold M. Simmons."

Mr. Simmons was greeted by tremendous applause as he arose and it was some time before he could proceed. As he arose, from the rear of the stage a large banner silently found its way down the background, proclaiming

"WHITE SUPREMACY
1898
Red Shirts
SIMMONS—Chairman."

This banner was received with much applause from the audience and at 8:40 Mr. Simmons began his speech. He thanked Mr. Empie for his kind and complimentary references. Mr. Empie had always been very good to him and he feared that his personal esteem had biased his estimate of the man. Mr. Simmons was thankful to the people of North Carolina's greatest city for the cordial welcome he had received here. He was here primarily for the purpose of speaking to the people in behalf of the Democratic party and the Democratic candidates, State, National and county. He was not speaking under the auspices of the

DYNAMITE TRIAL UNDER WAY

Examination of Talesmen Begun In Cases of 46 Men Accused of Complicity In Widespread Dynamite Conspiracy

Indianapolis, Oct. 1.—Lines upon which a jury is to be chosen for the trial of 46 defendants accused of complicity in a widespread dynamite conspiracy of employers of non-union labar, were indicated today in the examination of talesmen.

The trial was being begun before Federal Judge A. B. Anderson and the original number of 54 men indicted, headed by Frank M. Ryan, president of the International Association of Bridge and Structural Iron Workers, was reduced to 46. The government withdrew the charges against three men. Ortie E. McManigal pleaded guilty and another defendant was reported "not found."

John J. and James B. McNamara, in a prison in California, also were reported "not found."

No sooner were the premilinary motions ended than Judge Anderson said "call a jury." It was believed a jury would be completed in a week.

Talesmen were examined by Senator John W. Kern and William N. Herding, for the defense, and District Attorney Charles W. Miller, for the government.

At the outset Ortie E. McManigal pleaded guilty.

Eugene A. Clancy and Olaf A. Tvietmoe, of San Francisco, pleaded not guilty. All the other defendants at their arraignment last March had pleaded not guilty.

Daniel Brophy, of Brooklyn, N. Y., a former executive board manager of the International Association of Bridge and Structural Iron Workers, was reported unable to appear on account of a broken leg.

On motion of the government the cases against J. W. Irwin, of Peoria, Ill.; Andrew J. Kavanaugh, of Springfield, Ill., and Patrick H. Ryan, of Chicago, were dismissed. The government announced it had no evidence against them to warrant their trial.

McManigal, aged about 40 years, short, chubby and of a orid complexion, entered the court room grinning. He closely scrutinized one by one the men with whom, he asserts, he once was associated, but against whom he now is arrayed as a prosecuting witness.

"Ortie E. McManigal, do you plead guilty or not guilty to the charges against you?" asked Judge Anderson. The scene was dramatic. A score of attorneys leaned forward to hear the prisoner's reply.

McManigal rubbed the back of his hand across his chin and grinned again.

"I plead guilty, Your Honor," he said.

McManigal's plea qualified him as a witness for the government, for which purpose he had been imprisoned for 18 months.

Governor Wilson arranged at once the establishment of a separate office in Trenton from which to conduct his campaign for the Presidency. When not campaigning Governor Wilson will go back and forth from Princeton to Trenton, 12 miles each day.

GOVERNOR DIX IS OUT OF THE RACE

His Name Has Been Stricken From List of Likely Candidates

THREE MEN IN THE RUNNING

Justice Dowling, Martin H. Glynn and Wm. Sulzer Are In the Lead With Delegates to New York Convention

Syracuse, N. Y., Oct. 1.—This was elimination day for many aspirants for the gubernatorial nomination when the Democratic State convention assembled here. Tonight Charles F. Murphy, leader of Tammany Hall, and those associated with him in control of the party organization, were weighing and analyzing the qualifications of three men as party standard-bearers, Justice Victor J. Dowling, of New York; Martin H. Glynn, of Albany, the convention's temporary chairman, and Congressman William Sulzer, of New York.

Late tonight a boom was started for former National Chairman Norman E. Mack as a compromise candidate.

Murphy and the leaders are not expected to decide upon the likely candidate until the convention assembles for its nominating session Thursday. The Tammany leader says the convention is to be unbarred and every opportunity is to be given to test the sentiment of the delegates concerning candidates. Mr. Murphy's closest advisers admitted tonight that the name of Governor Dix practically had been eliminated from further consideration. It was said Murphy had found the opposition to the Governor came from too many quarters to be ignored.

Murphy and the county leaders were jubilant tonight because of an unexpected victory in the selection of former Judge Alton B. Parker for the convention's permanent chairman over United States Senator O'Gorman, whose name had been put forward by anti-organization men.

The platform being prepared by the resolutions committee, is to be progressive in spirit and is said to be satisfactory to friends of Governor Wilson here. Senator O'Gorman said tonight: "Everything is progressing satisfactorily. The platform is a progressive one and I hope to see a progressive candidate nominated to stand on it."

The 450 delegates heard Temporary Chairman Glynn today deliver the keynote speech of the Democratic State campaign, after which the convention adjourned until tomorrow afternoon.

CONSERVATIONISTS MEET

More Attention Paid to Cattle Improvement Than Human Race

Indianapolis, Ind., Oct. 1.—"The human race has not kept pace with the improvement in the blue-blooded breeds of hog and cattle within the past 100 years," declared Dr. William A. Evans, of Chicago, before the Fourth National Conservation Congress today.

"Eugenics has been neglected and as a result nations have waned and families disappeared. Men have paid more attention to the breeding of prize cattle than to the breeding of the human race."

John B. White, of Kansas City, president of the congress, presided and delegates from all sections of the country were present. President White in his annual address urged greater attention to conservation of human life and the various ways in which it might be lengthened.

Henry L. Stimson, Secretary of War, was President Taft's representative at the congress. Mr. Stimson reviewed the progress of conservation as to river transportation and waterpower regulation.

President White read a letter expressing the President's regrets for his inability to attend.

BLEASE DECLARED NOMINEE

S. C. Executive Committee Takes This Action Because Irregularities Disclosed Were Insufficient to Change Result

Columbia, S. C., Oct. 1.—Governor Cole L. Blease was today declared the Democratic nominee for Governor by the State Executive Committee. This action was taken after a subcommittee had reported that the recent investigation of the primary had disclosed irregularities in voting, but not sufficient to alter the result.

On the face of the returns of the recent primary Governor Blease defeated Judge Ira B. Jones in the gubernatorial race by about 3,000 votes.

When the report of the sub-committee was submitted to the executive committee attorneys representing Judge Jones withdrew his protest against the balloting in the primary. A second primary was ordered by the committee to determine the Democratic nominee for Attorney General. The contestants will be J. Fraser Lyon, incumbent, and Thomas H. Peebles, the two candidates who polled the highest vote on August 27th.

All other nominees on the face of the returns were declared elected by the committee. The contest brought against United States Senator B. R. Tillman by J. W. Talbert and N. B. Dial were dismissed.

The contestants failed to appear. Senator Tillman will be re-elected by the Legislature at its next session in January, 1913.

The matter of primary reform was left in the hands of the committee of six appointed by the State convention last May.

Before adjournment the committee urged that all violations of the primary law be rigidly prosecuted by the circuit solicitor.

VENIRE ALMOST EXHAUSTED

No Jurymen Accepted Out of 129 In Labor Trial

Salem, Mass., Oct. 1.—The venire of 350 talesmen for the trial of Joseph J. Ettor and two associates, on charges of being concerned in the death of Anna Lopezzo last January, was nearly exhausted tonight at the close of the second day of the trial. One hundred and twenty-six were examined today, but not one found his way to the jury box. The jurymen were chosen yesterday.

Judge Quinn found that nearly all the talesmen had already formed an opinion as to the guilt or innocence of the defendants, or had conscientious scruples.

Pathetic scene was enacted tonight as the prisoners were being taken to the jail. An Italian woman with a baby in her arms had been standing outside in the rain all afternoon. Just before adjournment of court it was learned that she was the wife of Caruso. As her husband was being led to the jail the deputy sheriff stopped long enough for the man and woman to embrace. The prisoner was given a brief opportunity to look at the child which was born since he has been in custody.

William D. Haywood came to Salem late today, hoping to be permitted to attend the trial of his fellow leaders in the Industrial Workers of the World. He was advised that he would not be admitted and did not appear in court. All spectators were barred today.

Several letters and telegrams of a threatening nature reached officials of the court during the day. District Attorney Atwill, who is trying the case for the government, received a telegram in which a march on the Court House was threatened if the defendants were not freed.

Drafts Platform for N. J. Convention. Republicans Meet.

Trenton, N. J., Oct. 1.—Governor Woodrow Wilson was the central figure in today's Democratic State Convention at which a State platform was adopted and candidates for Presidential electors nominated. The Governor made a brief address to the convention, saying the main issue in the present campaign was the trust question and the necessity for the elimination of monopoly.

The Governor was chairman of the convention's committee on resolutions, which deliberated for nearly two hours and then presented a platform which was adopted without opposition.

The platform gave a recital of the more important legislation enacted during Governor Wilson's administration. It declared in favor of the election of United States Senators by direct vote.

The main features of the Republican State Convention was the opposition of the Hudson county Assembly candidates to the adoption of the plank in the convention's platform that endorsed the administration of President Taft. The Hudson men are Roosevelt Republicans.

The only things done at the convention were the adoption of a State platform and the nominating of candidates for Presidential electors. The Republican platform endorsed President Taft's adminstration.

Seaboard President Announces He Will Retain Present Employes

Norfolk, Va., Oct. 1.—President William Harahan, of the Seaboard Air Line, in a statement today outlined his policy as the new head of the Seaboard, with the specific assertion that he "had no one to bring to the property" but on the contrary would "retain the services of the good and able men now there."

TEDDY SPEAKS IN OLD NORTH STATE

Ends Longest Campaign Tour Ever Taken With Address at Raleigh

ATTACKS THE TOBACCO TRUST

Roosevelt Declares After Court's Finding, a Receiver Should be Put in Charge—Says Opponents Propose Nothing.

Raleigh, N. C., Oct. 1.—In the "Old North State" tonight Col. Roosevelt delivered the last scheduled speech of the longest campaign tour ever undertaken by a Presidential candidate. The Auditorium here, which has space for 7,000 persons, was crowded. Col. Roosevelt had made nearly a score of speeches during the day, and he was hoarse and weary. He talked for an hour, then brought his speech to a close with the words with which he had opened his campaign: "We stand at Armageddon and we battle for the Lord."

In this State, with its heavy interests in the tobacco industry, Col. Roosevelt spoke of the American Tobacco Company, saying that when such a finding was reached as that handed down by the Supreme Court in the tobacco trust suit, a receiver should be put in charge of the business.

"Our opponents in both the old parties," he said, "have nothing to propose in regard to the regulation of trusts except just what has already been done. They propose nothing but modification of the present system. No such modifications would change the tobacco trust in a way which would amount to anything.

"My proposal is not to do damage to business, but to punish crooked managers of business. Such a showing as was set forth in the Supreme Court decision in the tobacco trust case should cause the immediate appointment of a receiver for that trust, just as would be done in the case of a National bank.

"In a case like that of the tobacco trust, the government could at once put in a receiver to run it until everything which it had been decided was wrong, had been done away with, and every objectionable feature removed. Then, and not until then, could the old owners come back. And they would come back with the knowledge that if such acts were repeated they would suffer just as Mr. Morse, the banker, suffered."

Col. Roosevelt said he favored the elimination of the middle man in politics, just as he advocated such a change in business methods, particularly in the case of middlemen who handle the products of the farm.

"The boss is the middleman in politics," he said. "The boss is perfectly happy if he can name both sets of candidates. You can do all the voting you want to and he comes out ahead."

Col. Roosevelt left here tonight for New York.

His trip across North Carolina from Asheville to Raleigh was one of the busiest of his tour. He had expected to make only a few speeches, but at almost every station arrangements had been made for an address and a crowd was waiting. The speeches came in such rapid succession that Col. Roosevelt's physician decreed it must not go on if he were to be responsible for the colonel's condition. Word was sent to the engineer that no more stops should be made except at the points previously on the schedule, and telegrams were forwarded to various places at which it was known Col. Roosevelt was expected to speak. At several of these points the crowds assembled without regard to these notifications, and as the train whisked by, Col. Roosevelt caught a blurred picture of the people, the sound of cheers and a few notes from the band.

When Col. Roosevelt reached Raleigh tonight he had traveled 10,373 miles on the present trip. The distance to New York brings up the total to 10,871 miles. The ex-President left New York on September 2nd and has spoken in 27 States in 30 days. He went first into New England for a day, then struck out to the West, speaking in a few of the Central States before going into the Northwest, and to the Pacific coast. Thence he traveled down the western edge of the continent to Los Angeles, through the Southwest and after turning northward to Denver, began his campaign through the South.

A new campaign hat which the colonel wore when he left Oyster Bay now bears the scars of many battles. His coat has been tugged at from all quarters in the midst of struggling crowds until the colonel said, as he looked at it today, that if it would hold together until he reached home tomorrow he would promise never to wear it again.

Makes Patriotic Appeal.

Raleigh, N. C., Oct. 1.—Speaking to more than 5,000 persons, Col. Roosevelt tonight made his last appeal to North Carolina for support of the Progressive party. He won the attention of his hearers from the start by endorsing the Mecklenburg Declaration and declaring that North Carolina was largely responsible for the great Republic, because her pioneers had

MOUNT OLIVE NOTES.

Political Speaking—Personal and Other Items of Interest.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Mount Olive, N. C., Sept. 30.—Hon. Claude Kitchin spoke on a street corner here Friday afternoon in behalf of the candidacy of his brother, Governor W. W. Kitchin, for the United States Senate, to a crowd of 75 or 100 people, including several ladies and a dozen small boys, and it was apparent throughout that his attacks upon Senator Simmons failed to arouse any sympathy for "Brother Will", the only applause greeting these attacks coming from four men—one from Goldsboro, one from the country near Mount Olive, one from Warsaw and one from the country near Faison. Congressman Kitchin's speech was not of the kind to strengthen the party. He referred to Judge Clark only incidentally. Hon. Aubrey L. Brooks, of Greensboro, was advertised to speak here, but failed to come. The speaker predicted the election of Governor Wilson for President and said that all intelligent Republicans are now conceding this fact.

Mr DuBrutz English left last Tuesday for High Point, N. C., to visit relatives. There is an unusually large number of residences and other buildings going up here now, and already there is a demand for dwellings by persons wishing to come to Mount Olive to live.

The old Presbyterian church has been moved off the lot and material is being placed for a new church to cost about $10,000. The pastor, Rev. Peter McIntyre, has been in Canada since the first of August, but is expected to return by the first Sunday in October.

There is a large quantity of cotton being marketed here now in spite of the recent rainy and disagreeable weather.

The merchants are having their Fall "openings" now, and great preparations are being made for a big business during the coming months, all signs pointing to a prosperous Fall and Winter business along all lines.

The enormous stables of Mr. Ben W. Southerland, reaching from Center to Chestnut street, on Maple street, are nearing completion, and when finished will be the largest and handsomest stables in the State. Mr. Southerland will do a general wholesale and retail horse and mule business.

THE BALKAN SITUATION.

No Step Yet Taken Indicating Outbreak of Hostilities.

London, Oct. 1.—With the exception of Roumania, all the Balkan countries are placing their armies on a war footing, but no step has yet been taken indicating an outbreak of hostilities.

A dispatch filed at Constantinople at 11 o'clock tonight announced that the foreign minister was still without any communication from Bulgaria or Servia, and no definite move in the way of combined action on the part of the great pawers has been made.

Short of actual hostilities, however, the situation could hardly be worse. The report that Turkey has decided to seize all Greek vessels in Turkish waters has an especially warlike appearance, while it is further reported that Greece is about to proclaim the annexation of Crete—an act which Turkey has repeatedly declared would be considered as a casus belli.

The Neue Freie Presse, of Vienna, expresses doubt whether the great powers are in harmony on the Balkan question. It regards the action of the Balkan States as a defeat for European diplomacy and thinks Servia is so devoted to Russia that she would not have ordered mobilization without Russia's consent.

Peace depends largely on the attitude of Roumania, according to the Constantinople correspondent of the Daily Telegraph and much significance is attached to a long interview which the Roumanian minister at Constantinople has had with the Turkish foreign minister.

pushed across the mountains and opened up the West. With such a heritage as the citizens of this State have the colonel felt that he could make a patriotic appeal to them, and this he did for one hour and 10 minutes. He was introduced by ex-Judge Robinson, of Goldsboro. Col. Roosevelt arrived this afternoon and was greeted by many hundreds of people who lined the principal streets. He waved a large bandana and lifted his hat and bowed to the crowd. The cheering was spasmodic. The colonel was very hoarse and this was evident when he spoke tonight, his voice breaking several times.

In the course of his speech he said that the Progressive party had specific remedies for controlling the trusts, something that neither of the other parties had. He pointed to the so-called dissolution of the American Tobacco Co., and the Standard Oil Co., as instances of poor trust busting. His plan, he said, where unfairness was practiced was for the government to take the concerns over as in the case of National banks and conduct them until there is assurance that the rights of the people will be respected.

Sitting on the front row of seats were Confederate veterans. He addressed many of his remarks to them, saying that he was making the same appeal to Union and Confederate veterans; that his party recognized no section.

Col. Roosevelt said that he had talked today with North Carolina manufacturers and they told him they were ready for the eight-hour day, the restriction of child labor, and would apply these principles if mills in other cities would do likewise. He declared the manufacturng establishments need the benefits of the protective tariff, but he wanted the fruits to get beyond the front office and benefit the laborers.

Colonel Has Varied Adventures.

Salisbury, N. C., Oct. 1.—E. C. Duncan, Republican National Committeeman from North Carolina, was attacked by Col. Roosevelt in his speech here. In the primaries in North Carolina last Spring I won," Col. Roosevelt said, "carrying counties by two to one, four to one, and even ten to one. The National committeeman, Mr. Duncan, took part in stealing the nomination from me. Mr. Duncan was not engaged in highway robbery. It was not as nervy as that, it was the sneak thief business. Mr. Duncan and the other 40 or 50 obscure, shady men on the National Committee did the bidding of the men behind them—men like those in the tobacco trust. You know the part the tobacco trust has played in North Carolina and so do I."

A Roosevelt meeting at Hickory today ended with a fight in the crowd and Col. Roosevelt was obliged to give up the attempt to make a speech. It was not the colonel's only adventure during his trip across North Carolina. Earlier in the day he was locked out of his car, thinly clad, and rode on the platform in the sharp air of early morning for 20 minutes before his plight was discovered.

At Hickory half a hundred students from Lenoir College gave the college cheer with "Wilson, Wilson."

"That's a fine cry to give up to the side that ought to lose," Col. Roosevelt shouted.

The cheering continued, despite the efforts of those who wished to hear the colonel. A man pushed his way into the midst of the students saying, "I'm a Taft Republican, but I want a square deal for Roosevelt. You college boys have got to keep still."

"Boys," Col. Roosevelt called out "you are long on noise, but you're just a little short on intelligence."

The students persisted in their cheering until Col. Roosevelt's champion seized the nearest one and attempted to force him out of the crowd. The students retaliated, they aiming blows at his face. Others joined in. Just then the train started and as Col. Roosevelt lost sight of the crowd the "Taft Republican" and the students were still pummeling each other.

Col. Roosevelt reached Asheville at 5:50 o'clock this morning and his schedule called for his departure at 7:10. He did not know that at Asheville there was a change from Central to Eastern time and thinking he would be in Asheville for an hour and 20 minutes, remained in his state room. Outside there was a crowd which the colonel did not wish to disappoint. He arose hastily, slipped on such garments as he could in a few seconds and went out to the platform in time to wave a good bye to the crowd.

No one had seen the Colonel's exit. The rest of the party were asleep and the porter had been told that the colonel, too, was sleeping and no one should be admitted to the car. He locked the door as the train drew out. Col. Roosevelt rang the bell. The porter, mindful of his orders, let the bell ring and kept away from the door. Col. Roosevelt kept his finger on the bell for five minutes, then gave it up. At the next station, 20 minutes later, a trainman found him and went to his rescue.

WILL SEALS KILLED

Shot by T. F. Gilstrap Who Surrenders To Sheriff

Atlanta, Ga., Oct. 1.—Will Seals, believed to be from Cobb county, Georgia, was shot and killed here early this afternoon by T. F. Gilstrap, a carpenter. The shooting occurred near the latter's home. After firing five bullets into Seal's body, Gilstrap notified the sheric. The latter rushed to the scene and found Gilstrap waiting to be taken into custody. Gilstrap alleges that he found Seals with his (Gilstrap's) wife.

Profits Doubled With The Benthall Peanut Picker!

If you grow peanuts and do not use a Benthall Peanut Picker, you actually lose money by not owning one.

The Benthall makes peanut growing doubly profitable.

The wages you pay—the losses from delays in not getting your crop early to market—the losses from birds and stealing—cost you more than a machine.

If you own a Benthall, you and your boys can do the work of a hundred hands, and do it better. You send your crop to market early—secure highest prices. You stop the theft of your crop.

Growers now see that hand picking is far too costly.

The folly of attemping to "thresh" them has been plainly shown.

For machines that "thresh" them destroy profits.

They crack the nuts—and cracked nuts will not keep.

They grind the vines to smithereens—and these vines are the equal of alfalfa for feed—worth from $12 to $20 per ton.

Contrast such machines with the Benthall.

The vines are fed to the Benthall just as grain to the treshing machine.

The peanuts are pulled off the vine without injury to the shell. The machine picks as delicately as human fingers—hundreds of times more rapidly.

Many buyers give preference to Benthall picked nuts.

The vines are saved in perfect condition for hay.

The recleaning and bagging attachment makes it unnecessary to run the peanuts over for seed the second time.

This is the picker of proved worth—proved out in the peanut fields of Virginia.

Either Spanish or Virginia varieties are picked equally as well.

It is mounted—ready to hitch—as you would a farm wagon. You can easily move it from place to place.

There are models suited for horse or engine power—machines that are made interchangeable.

Every year sees more farmers using the Benthall. It has supplanted all other methods in many sections. And the demand this year promises to be greater than we can supply.

THE MACHINE THAT PAYS FOR ITSELF.

If you don't want to let profits slip thru your fingers—if you want to make money growing peanuts, write us for our folder "How the Benthall Pays For Itself." Sent Free upon request.

EXPLAINS FACULTY'S INQUIRY

President Venable Reads to University Student Body Full Explanation Of Investigations Into Hazing There

(Special Star Telegram.)

Chapel Hill, N. C., Oct. 1.—President Venable read before the assembled student body this morning in Gerrad Hall a full and adequate explanation of the investigation made by the faculty into the hazing conditions at the University. The explanation covers completely the reasons for the faculty recently sending 20 men from the University under penalties ranging from one year's suspension to permanent expulsion.

Much misunderstanding of the faculty's motive and handling the investigation, stated Doctor Venable, has been prevalent both at the University itself and abroad in the State. He said that he had asked to be withheld from publication the names of the names of the students who were forced to leave college for their own sake. He stated that overzealous correspondence had lent touches of yellow journalism in their reports sent out to the State papers and that naturally a wrong impression was given to the public of the action taken by the faculty in its investigation. He added that he was not only willing to make this explanation to the students, but that he was anxious to make clear to both the students and the public the true motive behind the actions taken by the faculty.

Dr. Venable, in speaking of the suspension of the students who were involved in the hazing affair of last year, said: "It is impossible that there should be a statute of limitations as to college offenses during the college career of any student. It is simple justice that if the truth comes to light at any time punishment must follow. There may well be a reluctance to rake up old scores and it would scarcely be done except in very serious cases. But how could a president or a faculty maintain their self-respect and sense of justice if they had a man daily before them whom they knew to be guilty of cheating, or stealing, or hazing or anything else, unworthy and dishonorable, and let him go unpunished while they were punishing others for the same offense."

Dr. Venable further stated: "It is in some measure apparent to you all that the University has suffered in the estimation, respect and pride of the people of the State in the past few weeks. This humiliation of the institution that I have loved and labored for has depressed me beyond words. Now that the attacks seem to center upon me personally it is better, for I am content to suffer for any blame which is justly my due and that which is not just cannot injure me."

'But it is necessary that I have your confidence," said Dr. Venable, in conclusion; "that you should continue to believe in my justice, my honor and sympathy for you. For we must work together to regain what has been lost, to rebuild what has been torn down and to build more worthily, to search ourselves honestly and conscientiously lest there be any fault in us, and to correct such faults. Only by such faithful searching can 'men rise on stepping-stones of their dead selves to higher things.'"

UNIVERSITY HAZING.

No Additional Suspensions or Expulsions—Junior Class Meets.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Chapel Hill, N. C., Sept. 30.—No additional expulsions or suspensions have been made since Friday when 16 students were forced to leave the University as a result of the rigid investigation by the faculty into the hazing conditions here.

The Junior Class held a second special meeting Saturday to hear the report of the committee appointed at Friday afternoon's meeting to confer with President Venable. The committee stated that it was informed by President Venable that the faculty were going about the investigation in as fair-minded way as possible and that they were entering suspension charges against only those who went into the rooms or accompanied the parties who entered the rooms in search of freshmen on the night of the Sophomore banquet. A committee was appointed to draft a sympathetic letter to be sent to the parents of the suspended boys. This committee will read a copy of the letter at a meeting to be held late this afternoon.

The permanent expulsion of Mr. H. A. Martin, of Asheville, has been reduced to one year's suspension. This makes a total, up to date, of 13 suspended, three expelled (exclusive of the four principals in the death of Rand', and one reprimanded. While there is much sympathy expressed by the student body for the Juniors who were expelled for an offense committed a year ago, namely, the Sophomore banquet affair, the students are heartily in favor of a rigid investigation into the circumstances surrounding the death of young Rand.

YOUNG GIRL ASSAULTED.

Kinston Resident Passes—Band Organized—Democratic Speaking.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Kinston, N. C., Oct. 1.—Richard Reaman, colored, is in the county jail here charged with assault upon a young girl of his race. The outrage occurred at a farm in the vicinity of Vernon Heights, the northern boundary of the city. Callonie Smith, between 10 and 11 years of age, was the victim. Reaman was a boarder at the home of the Smith girl's parents, and the assault was made while the latter were absent from the house. The man was arrested at the instance of the girl's father. A physician had to be called to the victim, who is suffering from shock and injuries. Benjamin is a farm hand.

Mrs. Hannah Quinn Stricklin, one of Kinston's oldest residents, died at the home of R. E. Marshburn, in East Kinston, of old age. Mrs. Stricklin was past 80 years of age. She was a native of Jones county, but had lived here many years, and was well known. She was a member of the Methodist church, and the funeral was conducted by a minister of that faith, the interment being in Maplewood cemetery in this city. One son, Jos. Stricklin, and two grandsons, Herman and Cephus Stricklin, prominent Kinstonians, survive her.

A junior brass band was organized here last night by Albert Coble, chief musician of the Second Infantry band. The organization, comprised solely of boys, will be under the direction of Prof. Coble, and is expected to replenish the talent for the regimental band. The organization may be incorporated into the local troop of Boy Scouts.

Announcement was made by County Chairman G. V. Cowper today of important Democratic speakings in Lenoir county during the next 10 days. On Friday, October 4th, Hon. C. C. Daniels, brother of Editor Josephus Daniels, of the News and Observer, will address the citizens of the county. Mr. Daniels will speak twice during the day, at LaGrange at 11 A. M. and in the court house here at night. He is a noted orator, and no doubt large crowds will hear him at both places. By special request of the people of LaGrange, Hon. T. W. Bickett, attorney general of North Carolina, will make an address at that place Tuesday, the 8th. It is hoped to have a Democratic rally in LaGrange on that day, the central attraction of which will be Mr. Bickett's speech.

Governor Kitchin will address the people in the court house Wednesday night, the 9th, under the auspices of the Democratic executive committee. The Governor's speech will be in the interest of Democracy and is not expected to bear upon his candidacy for the Senate.

Football will not be included among the athletics at the Kinston High School this year. This statement was made by Superintendent Underwood today, and lack of interest and of material were the principal reasons assigned for the decision to dispense with the sport. Basketball will be the principal Fall and Winter sport in the Kinston schools, and it is expected that good quintettes will be put out this season.

The fund for the construction of the Lenoir county building at the Kennedy Memorial Home at Falling Creek, near here, is steadily growing. Three thousand, six hundred and sixty-three dollars is the sum subscribed to date for the building. Township meetings are to be held throughout the county, and two of these have been held already, at Woodington and New Hope. The next meeting of the series will be held Sunday at Neuse, at which notable speakers will discuss the proposition which has met with such a patriotic response throughout the county.

WOUNDED MAN UNIMPROVED.

Jesse Shelton, Alleged to Have Been Shot by Dr. Matthewson.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Greensboro, N. C., Oct. 1.—Jesse Shelton, of Madison, who was brought here early Sunday morning, being wounded by a bullet alleged to have been fired by Dr. R. C. Matthewson, was reported last night from St. Leo's hospital to be unimproved. His condition is considered to be critical.

Dr. Matthewson, who was arrested immediately after the shooting took place, is out under a bond of $1,000, pending the condition of the wounded youth.

Mrs. Lula B. Carr left last night for Ashland, Ore., where she expects to make her future home. Mrs. Carr is a daughter of the late Prof. and Mrs. J. M. Bandy and has spent practically her entire life in this city. She was prominent in church work and also successful in the financial world, having for many years conducted the O. W. Carr Insurance Co., of this city. Mrs. Carr will join her son, Wilfred, who went to Oregon in the early Summer.

MR. RICHARDSON'S FUNERAL

Held at Whiteville Yesterday—Personal Items—Cotton Crop

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Whiteville, N. C., Oct. 1.—The funeral of Mr. Calvin G. Richardson who died in Jacksonville, Fla., Saturday, was held at his home here yesterday conducted by his pastor, Rev. J. P. Pate. The deceased was a son of the late V. V. Richardson and was about 45 years of age. He is survived by his mother, two brothers, Sheriff Allen Richardson and Mr. Don Richardson, of Bucksport, S. C.; two sisters, Mrs. Irvin B. Tucker and Miss Maude Richardson, of this place, and by his wife and five children.

As a result of the recent series of meetings at the Baptist church there were 21 persons baptized at the church Sunday night by Pastor Poteet. This was one of the most successful meetings ever held here.

Young Diskan Best had the misfortune to have his arm broken Sunday night as he was returning home from preaching. He had started to go through a gate when he fell and struck his arm against the gate post.

The infant child of Mr. and Mrs. Isom Hinson died yesterday afternoon after a short illness.——Mrs. Walter Smith left today for Bainbridge, Ga., where she was called on account of the serious illness of her mother.——Mr. Walter H. Baxley, who has been in the insurance business here for several years, left last week for Jacksonville, Fla., to take a position as general agent for one of the old line companies.

Cotton-picking is now the order of the day. Although the dry weather in August materially damaged the crop still the yield is good, and a prominent farmer states that in his opinion he will make 75 bales on 80 acres of land. The average would have been over a bale per acre had it not been for the dry weather.

YOUNG MOTHERS

No young woman, in the joy of coming motherhood, should neglect to prepare her system for the physical ordeal she is to undergo. The health of both herself and the coming child depends largely upon the care she bestows upon herself during the waiting months. Mother's Friend prepares the expectant mother's system for the coming event, and its use makes her comfortable during all the term. It works with and for nature, and by gradually expanding all tissues, muscles and tendons, involved, and keeping the breasts in good condition, brings the woman to the crisis in splendid physical condition. The baby, too, is more apt to be perfect and strong where the mother has thus prepared herself for nature's supreme function. No better advice could be given a young expectant mother than that she use Mother's Friend; it is a medicine that has proven its value in thousands of cases. Mother's Friend is sold at drug stores. Write for free book for expectant mothers which contains much valuable information, and many suggestions of a helpful nature.

Let Us Be Truthful

HAVE THE RAILROADS AND SIMMONS' FRIENDS COMBINED AGAINST JUDGE CLARK.

For some time, the friends of Senator Simmons, rendered desperate at the certainty of his defeat, have been quietly using against Judge Clark the same attack the Southern Railway and American Tobacco Company made on him in 1902. Mr. J. O. Carr, one of Simmons' leaders, has recently come out into the open and publicly made the charge over his signature.

THE CHARGE OF THE RAILROADS AND SIMMONS' FRIENDS.

"It is also known that in 1896 Judge Walter Clark accepted the nomination from the Republicans and was elected to the Supreme Court Bench while Connor and other Democrats refused to accept such nomination, and that the distinguished Judge wrote many intimate letters to Gov. Russell during his administration, commonly known as "The Please Burn Letters."

READ THE TRUE FACTS.

Judge Clark was not nominated for any office in 1896. The reference must be to his nomination in 1894. If you recall the facts or will look up the newspaper files, you will find that in 1894 Judge Walter Clark was nominated by the Democratic Party for Supreme Court Judge. The Populist and Republican parties endorsed him, thus making his election certain and unanimous. Before accepting their endorsements, Judge Clark sent for F. M. Simmons, who was State Chairman of the Democratic Party at that time, and asked for his advice. Mr. Simmons told him by all means to accept the endorsement as it absolutely insured his election, and that no Democrat should run the risk of being defeated by refusing endorsements.

Judge Clark asked Mr. F. M. Simmons to put that in writing and he would accept the endorsements. Mr. Simmons, State Chairman of the Democratic party, sat down in Judge Clark's office and wrote out with his own hand the statement I have just given. This was written in the presence of Hon. B. R. Lacy, now State Treasurer, and that statement as witnessed by him is in Judge Clark's possession now and was published in 1902 when he was assailed by the Southern Railway and American Tobacco Company.

Judge Connor was not nominated that year by the Democratic Party as Judge Clark was, but was offered the nomination by the Populist and Republican Parties against the Regular Democratic nominee, Judge Burwell, and of course, refused to run against the regular nominee of the Democratic Party.

Mr. Simmons' friends have doubtless overlooked the fact that Justice Connor and Justice Walker in 1902 were nominated by the Democratic Party and endorsed by the Republican Party. Judge Clark was a candidate that year and nominated by the Democratic Party and bitterly fought by the Republican Party, yet no one questions the Democracy of either Justice Conner or Justice Walker.

In regard to the letters which the Railroad Attorneys and Simmons' friends charge Judge Clark with writing to Governor Russell, it will be recalled that this whole matter was thoroughly thrashed out in 1902 when Judge Clark was a candidate for Chief Justice. It is sufficient to say that at that time the Chief Attorney in North Carolina for the Southern Railway, the Chief Attorney for the Seaboard Air Line Railroad and the Chief Attorney for the Atlantic Coast Line Railroad held a conference one Sunday afternoon and brought forth some letters in their attempt to defeat Judge Clark. The people repudiated this attack by the Railroads on Judge Clark by nominating him for Chief Justice in the Democratic State Convention of 1902 by a vote of 1,141 to 60, and then ratified it by giving him a majority of over 60,000 at the polls in November.

HAS THERE BEEN ANOTHER CONFERENCE?

Has there been another notorious conference like that of the Chief Attorneys of the Railroads in 1902, and is this attack the result of it? Have the leaders of F. M. Simmons become so desperate at his defeat that they have decided to aid the Railroads in their attack on Judge Clark? If so, the people will undoubtedly again repudiate this attack at the polls this November by giving Judge Clark another majority of over 63,000.

WALTER CLARK, JR.

J. O. Carr is a Simmons political manager. He is a member of the State Democratic Advisory Committee, to which position he was appointed by Chairman Webb, another Simmons man. In the same article, to which Walter Clark, Jr., refers, Mr. Carr made a strong plea for "party harmony," and at the same time attempts to stab Judge Clark in the back. It is enough to make a horse laugh, to have a Simmons admirer tell you that the Senator is not in control of the State political machinery. Machine politics, the greatest evil that this country is cursed with, is being repressed in every State of the Union, and the handwriting on the wall is very legible in the State of North Carolina.

Is the boss an outgrowth of politics or is politics an outgrowth of the boss?

After the 5th of next month, our ex-Presidents can get a dollar a word for telling how it happened.

It s quite impossible for a man to be a George Washington and all other men Baron Munchausens.

The oose in Moose means the same as the ooze in bamboozle. It has the same effect as the ooze in booze.

If North Carolina Democracy is to be judged by its subscriptions to the campaign fund, it does not subscribe as it votes.

One thing can be said for President Taft, and that is that he engages in no controversies in which a question of veracity is the distinguishing feature.

The Bull Moose has its doe and also its dough. Mr. George W. Perkins doughties on the Bull Moose and from the very beginning of the "Progressive party" it has been in its doughtage.

Get the habit of not being as inconsistent as those whom you criticise for being inconsistent. A report from the committee on dictagraphs would make most any of us feel like calling the record all sorts of a liar.

The Moosette hat is on the market, but few women could be induced to wear such millinery in public. The Richmond Times-Dispatch tells us that "it costs only one bone," so the average sister would never think of wearing it to a cat fight.

"The spear that knows no brother" has selfishness, vindictiveness and bigotry back of it. Its wielder means to thrust and wound those who stand in his way. The spear that knows no brother will sooner or later be dulled by contact with a tough proposition.

The trade extension bureau of the Philadelphia Merchants' and Manufacturers' Association is arranging for a booster tour through Maryland, Virginia, North Carolina and South Carolina. Many of the Quaker City's leading business men and manufacturers will accompany the special booster train and it is hoped they will come and take a look at Wilmington.

Editor James H. Caine, of the Asheville Citizen, has eminently deserved congratulations upon the elaborate and superior edition of his paper, which appeared last Sunday. It was a historical and publicity edition, and in every respect it was a pronounced achievement. It was a splendid type of newspaper making, and its illustrations, matter and make-up were worthy of a metropolitan community. It was a superb advertisement of the achievements, advantages and adaptabilities of Asheville, and it not only magnified the resources of western North Carolina but as a whole it was a publication which represented the progress and greatness of North Carolina.

There will be one exhibit at the Central Carolina Fair this Fall that will demand an unusual interest, especially among those most directly concerned in this one department. This will be the agricultural exhibit, particularly as it represents Guilford county and other sections of the State where there has been a drouth. The reports are that, notwithstanding the dry weather, the department will have a fine representation of farm products. Such was the case last Fall, after a Summer that had been characterized by an unprecedented period of drouth. A person then who had been in touch with the exhibits of former years noticed very little depreciation in the quantity and quality of the articles sent up from the country. The pumpkins and turnips and corn all were good prize winners, all gave surprise to people who were not accustomed to seeing such things.—Greensboro News.

ROOSEVELT TO TESTIFY.

In 1904, President Roosevelt sent for E. H. Harriman who appeared to have cold feet on the Roosevelt campaign. Mr. Harriman went to Washington to confer with the President, but we haven't the slightest proof that a truce was patched up between them, or that such a thing as filthy lucre for the campaign was mentioned at the conference. In fact, we hate to suspect that there were either finessing or financing at this historic conference, but it is our prerogative to draw on our own imagination and cash the draft for what it is worth. As Mr. Harriman went hence, got busy and raised $240,000 to elect Roosevelt we are bound to imagine that his conversation with the President was powerfully satisfactory to Mr. Harriman. On the occasion referred to, two "practical men" talked over the situation and the financial result leads us to the conclusion that the President was remarkably persuasive or that Mr. Harriman was marvelously susceptible to influence.

Mr. Harriman is dead and gone, so we have only one living witness to a pre-election conference that excited the whole nation at the time that it happened. We remember how excited we got at the time, and we believe it has been about eight years ago that we came to the conclusion that Mr. Harriman left the conference under the impression that two practical men understood each other so completely that the railroad man subscribed 50,000 bones and got others to subscribe 190,000 more to help elect Roosevelt.

After Roosevelt was elected, the curious part of it occurred. President Roosevelt, having fixed himself for another term, seemed to ask no odds of Mr. Harriman, and consequently there arose some sort of misunderstanding between those two practical men. There followed some sharp correspondence between the two and Mr. Harriman finally was told that he was nothing more nor less than a downright prevaricator.

It would seem that if Mr. Harriman had parted with a great stack of simoleons of his own and then went out and raised enough more to build a quarter of a million dollar cotton factory, he had done so with the understanding that Big Business had nothing to fear from President Roosevelt. If Mr. Harriman parted with his wealth under a misunderstanding of the situation, he was not very much of a practical man in the hands of the President. Our impression is that a flimflam game had been put upon him. Colonel Roosevelt remains to tell the tale and he will do so before the Senate committee which is now investigating campaign expenditures at Washington.

The proven historical record in the case is that Mr. Harriman raised $240,000 of corporation money to elect Roosevelt, and whether the President asked him to do so or not, it was readily subscribed under the impression that it would help elect a President who would not run amuck.

THE YOUNG MAN AND HIS VOTE

The young men who will cast their first vote this year will hold the balance of power in the election of a President. The fellow who becomes 21 years of age between now and November 5th, or on the very day of the election, can realize his importance as he enters upon the threshold of citizenship. He has arrived at the age when the Nation and the State put confidence in his judgment. He becomes the equal of his father or his grandfather at the ballot box, and it is for the young man to get honest with himself and vote right. He should vote with the people and for the people to elect Woodrow Wilson as President.

The political opponents of the Democracy have divided against themselves and that is the best reason why neither side is right. The insurgents could not stand for the element of the party that is mortgaged to privilege, and yet the so-called progressives have been led into a movement with a worse end in view—viz: protection for privilege as well as legalization of trusts. Beyond some specious promises of reforms with which society must deal and not the national government, the Progressive party promises us no more relief than we can expect from the Republican party. It is for the young man to carefully study the repudiated policies of the Republican party and the impossible propositions of the so-called Progressive party and decide not to waste his vote on either.

The Democratic party offers the young man a platform based upon the constitution and its old-time declaration of "equal rights for all, special privileges for none." It offers a declaration of principles and remedies in the interest of the people, and it offers as its nominee for President a scholar, statesman, and patriot who will see to it that the government is restored to the people. The first voter no doubt sees who dominates the government now. No doubt he wants it taken from the hands of plutocracy, and if he does, the chance to do it lies only in the triumph of Democracy.

The young man wants to make sure that he votes right in this crisis in the history of his country. His elders will soon be out of it and the destinies of the Republic and its people will be in the hands of those who are for the first time to assume the grave responsibility of citizenship. In his own behalf and in order to save trouble for the future, the young man wants to make sure that his vote on the 5th of November is cast with the people and for the people.

SENATOR SIMMONS' VISIT.

Wilmington always has a warm welcome for Senator Furnifold M. Simmons, and such a welcome was demonstrated to him last night when he spoke to the people of this city on the issues involved in this fight for the triumph of Democracy. We were glad to witness the enthusiasm which greeted North Carolina's senior Senator last night and to note the effect which his strong plea had upon his appreciative audience. It was a great and statesmanlike speech and well worthy of a Senator.

Senator Simmons has been coming to Wilmington for a score of years and upon each occasion he has come in behalf of Democracy and in the interest of North Carolina. He speaks to grateful ears in Wilmington, for it was he who managed the memorable campaign of 1898 to redeem North Carolina from the nightmare of fusion. We remember him and his great work in that momentous campaign, one hardly less notable than that of Zeb Vance when he won North Carolina from the grasp of the vampires of reconstruction. We saw Senator Simmons in Wilmington during the 1898 campaign, and each time he came it was to marshal the Democratic leaders in all the surrounding counties for the determined fight to restore the State to the hands of the people who glorify in her traditions.

Last night, besides making a powerful Democratic speech, Senator Simmons spoke briefly in behalf of his candidacy for the re-nomination as Senator. Whatever may be the merits of all the distinguished candidates who have a worthy ambition to represent North Carolina in the Senate, there are none whose patriotism and fitness are more fully recognized by the people of all the Cape Fear section than are those of Senator Simmons. His distinguished service in the Senate is appreciated, and his fidelity to the interests of North Carolina cannot be doubted in the face of his past or recent service to the Democratic party and the people of his State.

Whatever may be the qualifications which the people may require of their next Senator, there is no need to say that Senator Simmons has strengthened himself and has not disqualified himself by a record which fair-minded men must admit has reflected credit upon him and honor upon his State.

CURRENT COMMENT.

Major Bernard made a good point in his article in Sunday's Observer on the importance of election reporters discriminating carefully between majority and plurality. The office of the daily paper on election night will be busier than the traditional bee hive and confusion in handling the returns may be avoided if reporters would discard the use of the words "majority" and "plurality" altogether, and simply give the vote each candidate gets. It is a fact that while the difference between the two terms is all-great and all-important, there is a general manifestation of ignorance in the matter. This is a point which newspaper correspondents should bear in mind. It would be well, also, for newspaper writers to educate themselves on the subject.—Charlotte Observer.

Governor Wilson possesses to a marked degree the power to pack into one sentence or paragraph an everlasting truth and to so arrange that sentence or paragraph as to make it forceful and lucid. "While you were feeding the world, Congress was feeding the trusts," is one of these clear-cut sentences which say so much in little. Selling their goods in a free-trade market, the farmers were buying in a protected market. Feeding the world at competitive prices, they were being clothed and housed at monopoly prices. There could be no tariff to increase the price they received for their goods, but a tariff imposed by Congress increased the cost of those things they bought and the trusts got the money. The farmer has fed the world and Congress has fed the trusts. That about tells the situation which can be changed by the election of the author of the truism to the Presidency, and with him a Congress which believes as he does.—Richmond Virginian.

The address of Governor Wilson to the New York Democrats is distinguished by the courageousness, good judgment and tact for which the public has come to look in his public utterances. Had Governor Wilson said less he would have been open to the charge of truckling to Tammany. Had he said more he would have been accused, and with a measure of justice, of practicing the very fault against which he protested. Of course, his statement is a challenge to Mr. Murphy, a challenge not to renominate Governor Dix and not to compel the Syracuse Convention to name for Governor some creature of his own selection, but it is put without offense and Mr. Murphy if he is well advised will see the wisdom of Governor Wilson's suggestion and will act accordingly. The Democracy cannot win in New York this year with a boss-made candidate. Unless Mr. Murphy wishes to betray his party and his party's candidate into the hands of the Bull Moose he will keep in the background at Syracuse today and will keep his fingers off of the strings.—Charleston News and Courier.

AT JACKSONVILLE, N. C.

Hon. G. E. Gardner Makes Great Speech in Onslow.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Jacksonville, N. C., Sept. 30.—Hon. G. Ellis Gardner, Democratic nominee for elector at large, spoke to a fair sized audience in the court house here today. The audience was not as large as the splendid speaker deserved to have before him; but it was enthusiastic from start to finish.

He began by saying that he did not like the tendency of the people of the eastern counties to let the Senatorial campaign usurp the entire attention of the voters; that, let us nominate whom we will for the Senate, it will be a Democrat that goes. He asks the people of the East to help the people of the West give Locke Craig and the Democratic ticket, State and National, a majority of 100,000 in North Carolina.

Mr. Gardner drew a terse summary of the record of the Republican party, when entrusted with power in the State, as compared with the Democratic record. The balance was in favor of Democracy on every page of history enacted since the Republican party began its career.

The speaker appealed to all true Democrats to support the Democratic ticket and to disregard family or local party factions.

The Moosers were described as the same foemen, only wearing "new faces."

The speech was ably delivered throughout, and commanded the wrapt attention of the audience. This speech marked the formal opening of the campaign in Onslow. This week the local candidates, led by Hon. E. M. Koonce, will begin a campaign that will retain Onslow's record as the banner Democratic county of North Carolina.

ASSOCIATED CHARITIES

Editor of The Morning Star.

Dear Sir: Only two persons have contributed money in response to my recent appeal. Some churches have not contributed this year. The Associated Charities owes bills for supplies to our poor. Yours for the work,

NOTED INVALID OF KENTUCKY

After Regaining Her Health, Makes Few Interesting Statements for Publication.

Lykins, Ky.—"For 20 years I was a noted invalid," says Mrs. Martha Dingus of this place. "I believe I had every ailment that my sex is subject to.

We consulted numerous doctors, as well as traveled a great deal, thinking it would benefit my health, but all of this did me very little good.

Finally I was taken down with what I thought was heart trouble. I used all kinds of medicine, but got no better.

I then commenced taking Cardui, the woman's tonic, and have been steadily improving ever since. Though now 46 years old, I am in better health than I have been in 20 years and I give Cardui the credit for it. I feel it my duty to inform you what it has done for me."

No matter if your trouble has reached a critical stage, don't give up before giving Cardui a trial.

You couldn't be in much worse condition than Mrs. Dingus, and yet she found relief in this medicine. Why not you?

Cardui is composed of purely vegetable ingredients, which act directly, in a remedial way, on the weakened womanly constitution.

In every community there are those who have been benefitted by Cardui. Be one yourself, in yours.

PROGRESS IN PENNY CASE

Plaintiff Rested and Defendant is Now Introducing Evidence in Big Damage Suit—On Docket for Many Years.

Satisfactory progress was made in Superior Court yesterday in the trial of the case of B. F. Penny against the Atlantic Coast Line, an action for alleged damages for personal injuries received by the plaintiff by being shot with a pistol by a negro during an alleged altercation between the conductor of a train on which he was a passenger and the negro at Leland, Brunswick county, September 18th, 1898. The plaintiff rested and two witnesses for the defendant company were examined before court took a recess for the day.

The case has been on the docket for 12 or 14 years and has been tried a number of times. Twice the plaintiff has been given a verdict. It has been tried so many times that people generally hope that whichever way it goes this time it will be disposed of finally. The case was called Monday, but the panel was exhausted before the jury was secured, therefore a recess was taken until 9:30 o'clock yesterday morning and 60 names were drawn from the jury box from which to select the jury. It required all of the morning session yesterday to select the jury and taking of testimony did not begin until the afternoon. The following compose the jury: S. A. Rogers, G. W. Johnson, J. J. Craig, G. F. Dukes, J. D. Cottle, R. W. Best, C. W. Watters, W. S. Clayton, J. H. Gurganus, L. J. Carter, E. R. Pickard and D. B. Futrell.

The plaintiff was the first witness. He testified that he left Wilmington on September 18th, 1898, for Leland, to which place he purchased a ticket. After the train had gone some distance from the city he observed what appeared to be an altercation between the conductor of the train and a negro passenger. The trouble was apparently adjusted. When the train stopped at Leland the witness said that he went to get off. He passed by Conductor Carmon and the baggagemaster. The negro passenger and the conductor were still having words. There was a pistol shot followed quickly by another. One of the bullets from a pistol in the hands of the negro passenger struck the witness, inflicting a wound that has not only caused him great suffering, according to his testimony, but has seriously impaired his general health.

Mr. R. E. Carney, a passenger on the train, was the next witness. He did not know anything material about the occurrence.

Sam Calloway, the negro passenger who shot Mr. Penny in attempting to shoot the conductor, was the next witness, and he told in detail of the affair. He was followed by Mr. C. S. VanAmringe, who was baggagemaster on the train. The testimony of Dr. R. Harllee Bellamy, an expert witness in the case, taken at a former trial, was read, as Dr. Bellamy was not in court at the time he was wanted. With the reading of this evidence and the introduction of X-ray photographs of the location of the bullet taken by Dr. Bellamy the plaintiff rested its case.

After a brief recess of five or ten minutes, examination of witnesses for the defendant was begun. Tom Broadfoot, who was railway mail clerk on the train on which the shooting occurred, was the first witness. He did not appear to know much of the affair. Capt. C. R. Branch, one of the oldest and most popular Coast Line conductors, testified that the book of rules exhibited was the one in use by the railroad at the time of the occurrence 14 years ago. Court then took a recess until this morning.

Bellamy & Bellamy, ex-Judge E. K. Bryan, and A. J. Marshall, Esq., appear for the plaintiff, while the defendant company is represented by Davis & Davis, Rountree & Carr, and J. D. Bellamy & Son.

THREE MONTHS ON ROADS.

Sentence Imposed Upon Pete Evans, Colored, for Selling Whiskey.

In the Recorder's court yesterday morning Pete Evans, colored charged with violating the prohibition law by selling a bottle of whiskey to a person unknown to the prosecution for 35 cents, was the star performer. Plainclothesmen B. W. Jacobs and Frank George testified that they peered through a window of Evans' home and saw him sell to a person unknown to them a bottle of whiskey for which he received the sum of 35 cents. Plainclothesman D. W. Coleman testified to the disorder around Evans' house. The testimony of the three officers was sufficient to convince the Recorder of the guilt of the defendant, who received a straight sentence of three months on the county roads.

The only other case tried yesterday was one in which Son Wiliams, a white man, was the defendant. He was charged with drunkenness and disorderly canduct and was fined $5 and costs. He recently completed a term on the county roads.

A case against Ben Drayton, colored, charged with the larceny of provisions from Ella Haywood, colored, was continued until Thursday at the request of the defendant.

Saves Leg of Boy

"It seemed that my 14-year-old boy would have to lose his leg on account of an ugly ulcer, caused by a bad bruise," wrote D. F. Howard, Aquone, N. C. FALL OPENING AT GAYLORD'S

Millinery and Coat Suit Department Center of Attraction for Ladies Yesterday—Opening Continues Through Today.

From early in the morning until closing time in the evening the mammoth department store of Mr. Geo. O. Gaylord, No. 208 North Front street, was crowded yesterday, principally with feminine shoppers, the occasion being the annual Fall millinery opening. Mr. Gaylord said last night that it was the most successful Fall opening in the history of his well known and popular store. The crowds were the largest and the sales aggregated more than on the first day of any previous opening. This means that the business of the day ran up to a high figure, for as everybody knows, Gaylord's openings are always largely attended by the women of Wilmington and surrounding section.

There was more buying than on any previous opening. The women seemed to be out more for shopping than for an inspection tour. Nearly all those who saw a hat to suit their particular fancy made a purchase on the spot, fearing that it would not be there a few days later. Miss Alma Brown, one of the most experienced milliners in the State, who has been in charge of the department for a number of years, continues in the same position. She is ably assisted by five experienced milliners and 15 salesladies and the shoppers are given prompt and courteous attention. As to the stock, it is probably the most complete in the history of the establishment. One will find here most any type of hat desired. The hats and the accessories were most tastefully displayed and there were many exclamations of delight from the ladies who beheld the pretty scene. The millinery department was handsomely decorated in yellow, white and pink chrysanthemums. The decorations with the tasteful arrangement of the hats and trimmings combined to make the entire department one of great beauty. The opening will continue through today and the management expects almost as many ladies as were present on the opening day. All are most cordially invited.

On the same floor with the millinery department, but in the west end of the building is the coat suit department, which is in charge of Miss Alice Smith, of Hendersonville, an experienced tailor-made suit fitter and saleslady, who came to the firm since last season. She has a large crops of assistants and it is a pleasure for the ladies to show the suits to the shoppers, whether they are out to make a purchase or merely to get a line on what is the latest. The coat suit department was second only in popularity yesterday to the millinery department, which held first honors. Many sales were made in the coat department as well as in the millinery department.

Many of the shoppers visited the various other departments of the large store and made purchases in these also. The Fall and Winter goods for all departments have arrived and the store is enjoying the usual early October rush.

The public is again reminded that the opening will continue through today and that all are most cordially invited to visit and inspect every department of the store.

FUNDS FOR WILSON CAMPAIGN

State Finance Committee Appoints Committee of One Hundred In Wilmington—Meeting This Evening

The Finance Committee for North Carolina of the Wilson-Marshall Campaign Fund has named a committee of one hundred in Wilmington to secure funds in this city for the Democratic campaign and this committee will hold a meeting in the Court House this evening, beginning at 8:15 o'clock. Each member of the committee has been notified by letter of his appointment and it is hoped that all will be in attendance. Organization will be perfected and plans decided upon for raising several thousand dollars locally to aid in the glorious work of electing Wilson, a former resident of this city, President of the United States.

Mr. Hugh MacRae, of this city, is secretary and treasurer of the Finance Committee for North Carolina, and he is giving much of his valuable time to this work. He hopes to see North Carolina and Wilmington make a splendid showing in the amount of money contributed toward the campaign. Wilmington has already made a large contribution, but this amount, it is hoped, will be increased by several thousand dollars within a few weeks. Following the meeting of the committee tonight a special campaign will be conducted in this city to secure contributions to the fund.

As secretary and treasurer of the State committee Mr. MacRae yesterday mailed letters to prominent men in practically every county in the State asking them not only to contribute something themselves but to secure contributions from their friends and acquaintances.

Members of the Wilmington committee of one hundred were notified of their appointment by a letter reading, as follows:

FRENCH MILLINERY PARLORS

Annual Fall Opening Yesterday Attracted Many Ladies of the City

With an elaborate display of exclusive designs and patterns most tastefully arranged, the French Millinery Palors, No. 110 North Front street, held its annual Fall millinery opening yesterday. The attendance exceeded by far that of any former season and there was considerably more buying than usual. The attractive parlors were thronged with happy shoppers nearly all day and even late in the afternoon, just before closing time, there were still a large number trying on and inspecting the many beautiful creations of the latest in millinery. The opening was very successful indeed and judging from the number of shoppers who visited the parlors and the amount of sales of the day the French Millinery Parlors will do a larger business this Fall than ever. The opening continues through today and the ladies of the city and section are most cordially invited.

Rather Serious Charge.

Charged with living together illegally Steve Williams and Louise James, alias Williams, colored, were arrested yesterday afternoon by Deputy Sheriff J. H. Davis and will be given hearing before Justice Harriss today. The man went to jail in default of $200 bond, while the woman was recognized for her appearance. It appears that the woman, who really is a girl of 17 years, has been making her home for some years with Steve Williams and his wife. The charge is brought by Minerva Spicer, who claims to be the mother of Louise James, or Williams.

..Theatrical..

Today the swell musical comedy company the Academy of Music is offering this week will resume its engagement, having cleverly given away last night for the speaking of Senator Simmons. Two performances will be presented today—matinee and night—and the jolly musical concoction, "Hip Hooray", which made such a big hit Monday night, will be offered.

It will prove a great musical treat and should be witnessed by large audiences. The doors for the matinee will be opened at 2:45 o'clock and the curtain will rise at 3:15 o'clock. The prices for the matinee will be 10 and 20 cents, and will remain at the same figures of 10, 20 and 30 cents for night. Seats for tonight can now be secured at Plummer's.

There has probably never been a better attraction ever presented at popular prices than the one now holding the boards at the Academy. It is certain that there has never been one so large and so important for the prices charged. The company is headed by two of the cleverest German comedians on the stage. Mills and Bernard, and has as its prima donna Miss Elizabeth Rowena, a charming actress and singer, while one of the bright particular stars is Al Watson, the well known Hebrew comedian. There are a number of other musical comedy stars and a real Broadway Beauty Chorus. The latter is one of the brilliant features and is not only pretty and graceful, but of good voice. Theatre-goers have in the present Academy attraction the very best popular price one they have ever had the pleasure of beholding.

The Grand Theatre.

Shows may come and shows may go, but the Grand Theatre goes on forever, and that, too, pleasing and delighting the people at the still small prices. Nowhere under the sun is more given for the money than at this premier Wilmington vaudeville house.

Mr. Chick, the balladist, is simply charming his hearers with his splendid renditions of all the popular songs and topical hits. Today he will sing the greatest rag-time lullaby ever presented in a Wilmington vaudeville house. It is entitled "Ragging the Baby to Sleep," the big song hit at Winter Garden, New York City. It is taken from J. K. Emmett's great success and will be heard by Grand patrons with peculiar delight.

There's always something doing in the moveys and for today the features will be a Pathe entitled "Paig". Dan Richards, a good natured cowboy is the hero and the scenes are laid on the Mexican border. There is a girl in the case and the spirit of Americanism abounds. It will be well worth seeing.

"The Adventure of the Italian Model" is another strong and sensational film of the Vitagraph manufacture. Strange things happen in the Latin quarter of any city and this film will tell a story dramatically interesting and of a pleasing nature. Then there will be a third film and all in all, the Grand today will be one of the most popular places in the city.

Today at the Bijou.

Today's bill at the popular Bijou is proclaimed the best the havlsome and comfortable amusement palace has ever presented. It is a bill that, by the fiery power of its dramatic films and the vigorously funny nature of its comedy photoplays, will make an especial appeal to all and will be hugely enjoyed. The bill will, of course, be presented in the usual faultless Bijou style, while the Bijou's solid comfort ways will make a fine setting for it all. The same tiny price of admission—5 cents, afternoon or night—will hold forth. Things may come and things may go, and expenses may increase, in accord with the Bijou's great enterprise, but the same old Bijou price of admission goes on forever. This is being highly appreciated by the hundreds of devotees of the "movies" in Wilmington.

That rousing mirth picture, "Alkali Ike's Pants", heads today's big bill. Just as the name would signify, it is a scream from start to finish, and it is a great novelty, too. There is a smile at every turn of the crank on the moving picture machine.

The other films are also topliners, including an especially fine and costly educational one, "Simla. It is a film of the Orient, of India, and it is most beautiful in character. It is also what well might be called a fantastic film.

A. C. L. Issues New Folder.

The Atlantic Coast Line has just issued an attractive purple folder giving the schedule of trains operated over its system and other information. On the last page of the folder is a cut of the new six-story office building and union station now in course of construction at Front and Red Cross streets. The folder contains a descriptive article of Wilmington prepared by Mr. J. Allan Taylor, which will serve as a big advertisement for the city.

MANY ATTRACTIVE FEATURES.

Police and Firemen to Have Place in Big Parade Next Thursday.

The fair to be given at Highwood Park next week, beginning Monday and continuing through Saturday, will have many attractive features, according to the plans of those behind the enterprise. One of the features of the gala week will be a big parade in the city Thursday in which 300 or 400 troops from Fort Caswell, the city police and firemen and possibly local militia organizations are expected to participate. Councilman B. C. Moore, in charge of the Department of Public Safety, yesterday replied to the request of the fair management to allow the police and firemen to participate in the parade, giving his permission. Mr. Moore said that it is hoped to have the two new automobile fire apparatus here and in working order by that time. The apparatus was shipped last week.

The fair management yesterday practically closed a contract with the Tidewater Power Company for wiring the grounds so that the fair may be kept open at night as well as in the day. The contract will in all probability be closed today and a number of electricians will be put right to work. The grounds will doubtless present a busy scene for the next few days in preparation for the event.

A contract has been closed for a big fireworks display to be given Wednesday and Thursday nights. This will serve to induce the attendance of hundreds who would not otherwise be attracted to the grounds. According to the present plans the fireworks will far exceed anything of the kind seen in these parts.

The Tidewater Power Company has given the management assurance of ample car service to and from the fair grounds. The fair has been thoroughly advertised throughout Eastern North Carolina and upper South Carolina and it is expected that several thousand visitors will be here during the week.

Receipts of Cotton Last Month

The receipts of cotton for the month of September, according to the record at the Chamber of Commerce, amounted to 51,228 bales, as compared with 60,381 bales for the same month last year. These figures bear out the prediction that the production of cotton this year is slightly under the average yield. Naval stores for the month were as follows: Crude turpentine, 659; rosin, 3,291; spirits, 746.

Revival at Brooklyn Baptist Church Draws Large Congregation.

The revival in progress at the Brooklyn Baptist church is increasing in attendance and enthusiasm at each service. Rev. John W. Ham, of Atlanta, the well known evangelist, is sustaining his reputation to get and hold the crowds. There is not a dull minute in the service from the opening to the close.

The night services are evangelistic in character. The theme of the speaker last night, when he spoke to a large congregation, was "Our Loved Ones in Danger." This was graphically portrayed. The services always close at 9 o'clock. The song service begins at 7:30 o'clock. A choir of 50 voices is leading in the singing with splendid enthusiasm. The solos of Mrs. Ham are filled with power and sweetness, every word being distinctly understood. She sings at both the afternoon and evening services.

The afternoon services are arranged especially for Bible students and Christians, the addresses being expository in character of the great fundamental themes of grace. Yesterday "The Work of the Holy Spirit," was the subject.

TRUST IS THE ISSUE.

Wilson Talks to New Jersey Convention on Monopoly.

Trenton, N. J., Oct. 1.—Governor Wilson in addressing the New Jersey Democratic Convention today said:

"I feel not only that the issues involved in the National campaign are tremendous issues, but that we have found the crux of them; that we have located the heart of the matter. Our choice is as to whether we shall accept monopoly or destroy the processes by which monopoly has been manufactured with all its established dangers and its known control over the affairs of government. We are to decide whether we shall oust ourself constituted masters or accept them permanently. Make one choice and you will enjoy the confidence of the people for the next generation. Make the other and there will be no chance for the people to free themselves within a generation.

So that this should be the heart of the debate. We have taken an unassailable position and we know now that both branches of the Republican party are on the defensive—that they have indefensible positions. "If the Democratic party throughout the Nation will only get the fighting ardor into its blood that we have felt here in New Jersey, it will have a long and fruitful life ahead of it. I feel so strongly that I cannot refrain from exhorting you to stand together with a singleness of purpose for the high enterprise in which you are engaged."

The Governor motored to the inter-State fair, mingled with the crowds and reached his home at Princeton at 8 o'clock tonight.

CAN'T MEDIATE STRIKE.

Erdman Act Will Not Apply in Augusta Trouble.

Augusta, Oct. 1.—Hope of settling the street railway strike here by mediation under the Erdman Act was dispelled early tonight by a telegram from Judge Knapp, at Washington, to Mayor Barrett, stating that the act cannot be made to apply to the local controversy. All other efforts to settle the difference between employes and the company officials also have failed.

In response to a general strike order issued today the conductors and trainmen of the Georgia Railroad went on a strike at 7:30 Eastern time, tonight. Three hundred men are affected.

The strike order was issued by Vice President T. A. Gregg, of the Order of Railway Conductors and Vice President James Murdock, of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen, in charge of the local situation for their respective organizations.

THE DEMAND OF THE PEOPLE IGNORED

SIMMONS WILL NOT MEET KITCHIN.

Correspondence Between the Managers of Governor Kitchin and Senator Simmons in New Hanover County.

"Wilmington, N. C., Sept. 30, 1912, 11:34 A. M.

"J. O. Carr, Esq., Manager for Senator Simmons, New Hanover County.

"Dear Sir: Having been advised that Senator Simmons has been requested, upon petition signed by citizens of New Hanover county, to speak in Wilmington on the evening of Tuesday, October 1st, in behalf of his candidacy for the United States Senate, and not under the auspices of the State Democratic Executive Committee, and also having been advised that Senator Simmons has signified his intention of speaking here in his behalf.

"The undersigned, on behalf of the supporters of Governor Kitchin in New Hanover county, hereby respectfully request that you forthwith and immediately request Senator Simmons by telegraph or long distance telephone to divide time with Governor Kitchin here tomorrow night in order that the Governor's side of the question may be presented also. This act will be reciprocated by giving Senator Simmons a part of the Governor's time at any of the places he has future appointments, or he will make new ones.

"The undersigned have been endeavoring since last Friday, September 27th, to ascertain who the local manager of Senator Simmons was, but not until this morning were they able to ascertain the proper person in yourself.

"We must have a reply to this communication by 4 o'clock this afternoon in order to give the Governor time to reach Wilmington.

"Respectfully,
"WM. E. SPRINGER,
"JOS. W. LITTLE,
"Managers of Governor Kitchin, New Hanover County."

Mr. Carr replied to the communication, as follows:

"Wilmington, N. C., Sept. 30, 1912.

"Messrs. Wm. E. Springer and Jos. W Little, Managers of Governor Kitchin in New Hanover County, Wilmington, N. C.

"Gentlemen: I acknowledge receipt of yours of the 30th with reference to a joint discussion between Senator Simmons and Governor Kitchin, tomorrow evening, October 1st; and, while I am not the official manager of Senator Simmons, I do not hesitate to act for him so far as I can in this matter

"My understanding is, that Senator Simmons and his State manager have decided, and have announced publicly, that the Senator will not debate the issues of the campaign with any Democrat and thus arouse antagonism in the Democratic party; this being true, any local manager here would have no authority to overrule this decision, and of course, the invitation to a joint discussion is declined.

"Personally, I do not think that this discussion would tend to harmony in the Democratic party. As you may both know, antagonism began between Senator Simmons and Governor Kitchin in 1898, when Senator Simmons insisted on making a straight Democratic fight against negro domination, and Governor Kitchin advocated fusion with Marion Butler and the Populist party, which would have made the White Supremacy campaign in 1898 fruitless. Further, Governor Kitchin appointed a Republican as chairman of the Board of Audit and Finance in Wilmington, and recently appointed John S. Ramos, a justice of the peace, who hurriedly left town within a few days after getting his commission on account of alleged "irregularities" connected with his official conduct. It is known that Mr. Springer was opposed to Governor Kitchin four years ago, and only began to champion his cause after he received an appointment from him on the building commission of the new State Building; and that Mr. Little is now on the Governor's staff.

"If Senator Simmons and Governor Kitchin should enter into charges and counter-charges against each other, all of these matters would necessarily enter into the discussion and would engender such bitterness as would permanently injure the Democratic party. Let each candidate run upon his own merits, and not upon the demerits of the other candidates; and the Democratic party having endorsed the Democracy of all the candidates, it seems that party interest should first be considered in preference to the interest of any candidate.

"Yours respectfully,
"J. O. CARR."

Monday night Messrs. Springer and Little sent to Mr. Carr the following letter:

"Wilmington, N. C., Sept. 30, 1912.

"J. O Carr, Esq., Wilmington, N. C.

"Dear Sir: We have your letter of even date in reply to ours asking you to request Senator Simmons to divide time with Governor Kitchin here tomorrow night We do not deny you the right to so decline, but are somewhat astonished that you should reply to a reasonable communication by bringing in matters totally foreign to the subject about which we wrote you. It is our belief that you did this in the hope that you would thus embarrass us and keep the communications between us out of the papers and away from the people. If this was your purpose, you have utterly failed, and though your evasions clearly show that you are a close follower of your leader, we assure you that so far as we are able the people of New Hanover county shall have the real facts in this matter and not be fooled by matters not involved in the issues.

"If the Governor has made any appointments he should not have made, we feel sure that he is willing to discuss them before the people in joint debate with Senator Simmons, as much so, we take it, as his opponent would be willing to discuss in his presence the declaration that 'Lorimer is the peer of any man in the Senate.' Besides, what have appointments to do with the question of a joint debate, and what license have you to even speak of the record of Governor Kitchin when your chief is so opposed to having the records of public men discussed? Not that we are opposed, or that Governor Kitchin is opposed, but we want to call your attention to the inconsistency. We stand for party harmony and although you are a member of the recently named Democratic State Advisory Committee, which we thought was to promote harmony within the ranks, we do not now question your entire partisanship and your entire willingness to exemplify your thorough partisan nature in this Senatorial fight. We suppose when you have gone as far as you can you will hold up your hands and cry with your chief, 'My hands are clean.'

"We are greatly surprised that your memory is so short that you have forgotten that the Governor did not appoint the Chairman of the Board of Audit and Finance. He appointed Mr. H. J. Heyer a member of the board, who was afterwards elected chairman by the board itself, and who, by the way, we are informed was of the same political faith as the retiring chairman, and in advocacy of whom you appeared in Raleigh at the time, urging his retention on the board.

"One of us has been for Governor Kitchin ever since he has known of him, and that was before he was Governor; and we feel certain that you will admit that a man may change his advocacy of a certain candidate in four years' time, especially in the light of the excellent administration of Kitchin as Governor.

"But of all persons, you should find no fault on this account. Did ever a candidate for office in New Hanover county receive a more scathing denounciation than did Hon. John J. Furlong receive at your hands in the public Court House when he was a candidate for Recorder in 1910? Will you deny the fact that you are today cooperating with the same gentleman in your zeal to help the cause of Senator Simmons?

"We feel certain that you must be mistaken about any antagonism existing between Governor Kitchin and Senator Simmons over what happened in 1898, unless it was caused by the fact that Senator Simmons strongly advocated a campaign of 'conciliation,' moderation' and 'conservatism,' and so, it is said, frowned down on the 'Red Shirt' movement. At any rate, you are either mistaken or have forgotten, because after the last State convention (ten years after your alleged antagonistic affair) after the memorable campaign which resulted in the nomination of Governor Kitchin, and in spite of the fact that Mr. Simmons (then Senator) worked vigorously to defeat Governor Kitchin, we find Senator Simmons declaring:

"'And what is more, Mr. Kitchin is worthy of my support and their support (talking about the people. He is an able man. He is a courageous man. He is a man of convictions. He hates evil and he loves right.'

"This is Senator Simmons' exact language about Governor Kitchin and we will be glad to submit a copy of the article.

"But it was for the purpose of letting the people see and hear for themselves that we sought a joint debate. The people of North Carolina do not like a man who dodges, or even one who is afraid. The man in North Carolina who does not defend his public record when it is attacked, is in a feeble position to ask support at the hands of the Democratic party.

"Respectfully yours,
"WM. E. SPRINGER,
"JOS. W. LITTLE,
"Managers for Governor Kitchin, New Hanover County'

"P. S.—While sending you this reply, we are taking the liberty of handing a copy of the correspondence to the public press, so as to show our willingness for the entire matter to be aired." (Advertisement.)

COTTON GOES DOWN AND UP

Renewed Liquidation Caused a Further Decline in the Early Market, But Prices Later Rallied On Covering

New York, Oct. 1.—Renewed liquidation for over the government's crop report caused a further decline in the cotton market early today, but prices later rallied on covering and the close was steady, net unchanged, to five points lower. The market opened barely steady at an advance of one point on October, but generally one to four points lower, and during the first few minutes October held off to a net loss of two points, while later Liverpool sold about five to eight points under the closing figures of yesterday.

Cables were favorable, but there was a renewal of heavy liquidation of long accounts, owing to the favorable weather and further indications that the government's condition report tomorrow would not show more than average September deterioration. Offerings were well absorbed on the decline, and the market turned steadier on covering of shorts. Reports of a low barometer in the Gulf probably increased the disposition of scattering shorts to buy back their contracts, while rather a bullish interpretation was placed on the weekly report. At any rate, prices rallied a dozen points or more from the early level and at one time during the afternoon were from 6 to 9 points net higher. The close was off from the best under a final spurt of realizing or liquidation, with the active months heading a net gain of only one or two points.

Spot closed quiet. Middling uplands, 11.45; do. gulf, 11.70. Sales, 22,985 bales.

Futures closed steady.

VARIOUS FACTORS IN STOCKS

Heaviness on Foreign Exchange, Decision of Treasury Not to Aid Crop Movement and Money Influenced the Market

New York, Oct. 1.—Heaviness on the foreign exchanges, caused by the Balkan situation, the decision of the Treasury Department that its aid will not be required to facilitate the movement of crops and another flurry in call money to 7 per cent. were factors of varying degrees of influence in today's stock market.

Prices opened materially lower on heavy selling by London. Weak issues included Steel, Canadian Pacific, the Harrimans, Northern Pacific and Great Northern Ore. Offerings appeared to be well absorbed, however, and the market rebounded sharply.

Another selling movement set in at midday, when money touched its high quotation and prices went lower than at the outset. In the late afternoon money went under 6 per cent. and the entire list strengthened materially. The closing was active, but irregular, on profit taking. Woolworth was the most conspicuous specialty, rising four points.

Local banks lost more money to the interior, with direct shipments to various points. Currency transfers of $650,000 to New Orleans were made through the subtreasury. Bonds were easier on more moderate dealings. Total sales, par value, amounted to $1,817,000. Government bonds unchanged.

Total sales for the day, 631,000 shares.

BRUCE-BROWN KILLED.

Succumbs to Injuries Received on Vanderbilt Cup Course.

Milwaukee, Wis., Oct. 1.—David Bruce-Brown, the noted automobile racer, died this afternoon in a hospital here from injuries received today in the wreck of his Fiat car in which he was making a practice spin of about 90 miles an hour on the Vanderbilt cup course at Wauwatosa. Bruce-Brown and his mechanician, Tony Scudelari, were thrown from the car when it overturned at the "Hairpin" curve, each suffering a fractured skull. Scudelari, it was said, will recover. Bruce-Brown had been running almost neck and neck with Teddy Tetzlaff, also in a Fiat, after rounding the "Hairpin" turn Tetzlaff forged to the lead. Tetzlaff looked back after going a short distance. Bruce-Brown's car had disappeared. He turned back and came upon the crippled car in a ditch. Brown, his clothes torn and covered with dust, was walking about while Scudelari was lying near the car. After the accident Brown regained consciousness long enough to ask for his mother.

State Democratic Executive Committee, but he said he would discuss his record as an incident to the discussion of Democratic principles and Democratic policies. He did not claim that during 12 years in the Senate he had made no mistakes, but taking his record as a whole, whether in North Carolina during the trying days of 1898 and 1900, or during his 12 years service in the Senate—taking all this as a whole, he said, he stood upon his record and he would appeal confidently to the Democratic people of North Carolina. He especially wanted it understood here and everywhere that he was not running from his record but was running upon it. He did not come to speak in itsdefense or to apologize for it, for it spoke for itself and needs no apology. But he was there last night, he said, to protect that record against misrepresentation. Several months ago in an interview given the Washington correspondents for the State papers, he said that he told them that whatever course he might pursue with reference to this Senatorial campaign, his friends in North Carolina might be assured that he would do nothing without first considering the Democratic party and whatever he might do he would put the interest of the party over and above his own personal ambition.

When the State Democratic Executive Committee recently met in Raleigh to define the test for voting in the Senatorial primary, he said to his friends on that committee that in determining the test he wanted them to do him the favor to leave his interests entirely out of the consideration and settle on what they thought would be to the interest of the Democratic party. He told them that they might decide to make a test that would cut out a few thousand of his votes but that he should have a few thousand to spare. In pursuance of that purpose, he would not in this contest engage in any joint debate with any Democrat because he could not conceive of anything more demoralizing or more destructive of party harmony and success than the spectacle of three of the principal officers in the State—the Governor, the Chief Justice of the Supreme Court and the Senior Senator from the State, standing and speaking from the same platform, each assailing the other and seeking to discredit the records of one another. If he were to consent to such a campaign he would regard himself a traitor to a party which he loved and which had signally honored him. He would not in anything he had to say assail either the character or record of a Democrat holding high official position. He would make no invidious comparisons, distinctions or classifications between Democrats. He would not divide a line by a line, classing as reactionaries the one or the other. The Republican party afforded a pitiable illustration of the result of such tactics. It had divided, the breach had widened, the quarrel had become more and more heated until it culminated in two nominations in Chicago. He would not assail, least of all would be attack the Democratic organization or the Democratic machinery in any of its units. He could not do it without attacking the great Democratic party and he would not attack a party which had so signally honored him. He told of the attacks on Craig's record in the campaign four years ago—the pure and knightly Craig, at the mention of whose name the audience applauded. This year Craig was unanimously nominated for Governor and as he stood no longer in the way, his Democracy was no longer questioned. He, Simmons, was the victim of these attacks this year, perchance because he stood in the way as Craig did four years ago.

Mr. Simmons said that he would not defend his Democracy before a Wilmington and a North Carolina audience (applause) or for that matter before any audience. He had a record as a Democrat and he would say without egotism that it is written in the history of North Carolina and neither envy nor malice can efface it. He would leave it to others to discover whether he is a Democrat, but it seemed to him, looking back for 20 years, during which he had given his time and his energy, even more than to his own private interests, that his Democracy should not be questioned.

"These assaults will continue," said Mr. Simmons, "just so long as the emergency of this contest is in progress and as in the case of Craig, when the emergency has passed, my Democracy will be restored and I shall be mighty happy after the 5th of November to have my Democracy and my character restored to me." (Applause.)

He referred most pleasingly to the Senatorial forecast of Maj. W. H. Bernard in the Charlotte Observer of Sunday last and reproduced in these columns yesterday. Mr. Simmons referred to his estimate of Maj. Bernard's conservatism and referred to his long and pleasant association with him on the State Committee, but in placing the majority at 15,000, Mr. Simmons declared that he was more than ever impressed with Major Bernard's conservatism. The Major, he said, is short about 15,000 votes in his calculation.

The Senator then referred to the term Progressive and showed why this was a relative term. He was not in the habit of putting prefixes or suffixes before his Democracy. He took his straight. He was simply an old-fashioned, hard-working, ticket-voting Democrat. When you talk of Progressiveism, there must be some standard. He then told of the various brands and paid his respects incidentally to the Bull Moose and the others. His definition of progressive Democracy he found in the Baltimore platform upon which he stood squarely and showed by his record wherein he had actually stood upon this platform before it was framed. He challenged his accusers to point out one single measure or declaration of the slightest import of the Baltimore platform for which he does not now and has stood in his Senatorial career.

Taking up National issues Mr. Simmons discussed his part in the great tariff fight in which he secured a coalition with Insurgent Republicans that put up to Mr. Taft the veto of the tariff measure. He had voted against every Republican tariff measure since he had been a member of the Senate and gave an able exposition of the tariff from the Democratic viewpoint. He told of his vote on lumber and gave the same explanation as in his Charlotte speech and which has been published from time to time, carrying his audience with him apparently on every point. He then told his accusers that if they were able to put him off the platform they would put the whole Democratic party off with him. They wanted to lasso him and put him in a cell for his votes. One thing, the cells were clean for they had never been occupied. But if his accusers were going into this business of lassoing every representative who had voted as he did on the schedules objected to, they ought to go over in the First district and lasso John Small; over in the third and lasso Charles Thomas; over in the fifth and lasso Page, Yates, Webb and the others. They had had some rather strenuous fights for Congress, yet their Democracy had never been questioned. They had never stood in the way as he had, perhaps. He also told of the vote of Senator Bacon, who has been returned by a large majority from Georgia; of Senator Tillman, who had been returned since his vote; of Senator Martin, of Virginia; of Senator John W. Daniel and a host of others, who had not been subjects to these assaults and onslaughts. If all these were lassoed and placed with him in a cell, it would be a most delightful company. Mr. Simmons paid high tribute to Senator Tillman and the late Senator Daniels, bringing forth great applause.

Mr. Simmons then reviewed most comprehensively the tariff fights of 1909 and 1910, telling of his elevation to the majority leader of the committee to investigate the high cost of living and telling why at the last minute when the majority report was about to be foisted on the public exonerating the trusts and tariff from the high cost of living, how within 12 hours' notice he had been selected to go upon the floor of the Senate and hurl the responsibility for the cost of living to the tariff and trusts. He told of how this speech was incorporated as a whole in the Democratic handbook of that year and yet, he said, they were told he was not a Democrat and did not enjoy the confidence and esteem of party leaders in Washington. He then reviewed the tariff transactions of the past session and told of his floor leadership of the minority party and how the coalition of the Insurgent Republicans had been secured and the tariff reduction measure had been put up to Mr. Taft for his veto.

He defended his position on the income tax and the election of United States Senator by the people and frankly told his audience that if they wanted some one who would not vote in favor of these progressive measures simply because Aldrich voted for them, that they had best send some one else to the Senate. He told of his campaign for the Senate with Gen. Carr in the first submission of the Senatorial question in this State and told of the dignified, elevated plane upon which that campaign had been placed in contradistinction to this.

He went into his personal affairs and repeated his challenge to his opponents to sell out everything he had for less than $50,000 and to pay a big commission for the sale, if they desired. He also told of the timber holding long ago when some shrewd Yankee bought it from him for $3,500 and sold it for $40,000. That was the only timber transaction he had ever had. He paid his respects to Collier's Weekly and told of why the great papers that used tons and tons of paper were personally interested in a reciprocity bill that disregarded the interest of the farmer, just so they were protected they cared little for the farmer. He also told of Collier's endorsement of the utterances of the negro Manly and explained that Collier's would likely not extend its propaganda to Wilmington, the scene of Manly's activities during his journalistic career.

He referred to the glories of North Carolina and told how its great sea on the East, its mountains on the West and its vast waterpowers in the Piedmont had never received from the government what they deserved. Now they were coming into their own and receiving their share of governmental appropriations. He did not think any sane man could object to this. He told of the project to deepen the Cape Fear to 26 feet and said that upon his return to the Senate, eliminating the if, that this would be made 30 feet and that so far as eight feet the year round to Fayetteville was concerned, it would be made 14 feet with the coming of the years. He spoke of the splendid opportunities of the State and told that it was because of the opening of these opportunities to his State that he wanted to return to the Senate and see that it should come into its own. He was not satisfied with the eight feet depth to Fayetteville, neither was he satisfied with 26 feet for Wilmington.

He had heard it whispered that the custom house was to be moved from Wilmington. So far as that was concerned he thought that instead of losing the Custom House, that Wilmington would swallow up all the other custom houses. He told of the inland waterway and of the entering wedge that had been made in Federal appropriation to good roads. He told of a recent visit to Europe and of the impetus that the good roads had given to agriculture there. It was for this reason that he was now making the fight for post roads.

He then let the audience in on some inside history with reference to Marion Butler, who was feeling good on a train recently and said that if by chance the Republicans could get hold of the Legislature, he wanted to see "that d—d little sawed-off Simmons ousted out of his seat in the Senate." He also told of Butler's vindictiveness towards him and told of three hour speeches made to discredit him by Butler and intimated that similar attacks were now coming even from inside his own party.

He referred tenderly to the lamented Aycock and regretted that it had been decreed that he had not set the standard for the conduct of this campaign. He also told of his Lorimer vote, saying that he had voted once against Lorimer and once for him and that he had voted right each time. He told of the superficial and the complete investigation and of his vote to re-open the case, justifying his course on both votes.

Mr. Simmons closed with a beautiful appeal in behalf of Locke Craig, Woodrow Wilson and the legislative ticket, telling his hearers that if there was a choice between him and any one of the others to disregard him and vote for the others. He knew what it meant and he would willingly make the sacrifice.

Mr. Simmons was heard with the greatest interest all through his speech and was frequently applauded. Music for the occasion was furnished by the Cape Fear Independent Band and Dixie was appropriately rendered as the Senator took his seat upon the platform.

Mr. Simmons arrived yesterday evening from Raleigh and was met by a large number of his friends, including the committee, and escorted to The Orton, where he was entertained while here. This morning he leaves for Whiteville where he will speak today. He was heard last night not only by New Hanover voters, but by a number of gentlemen from a distance who came in to hear him. His welcome was genuine, enthusiastic and wholehearted.

DETAILS OF MUTINY.

Master of Steamer Brunswick Tells Story by Wireless.

Tampa, Fla., Oct. 1.—Details of the mutiny aboard the steamer Brunswick, of the Gulf & Southern Line, in which one Spanish stowaway was killed and two wounded, were received here today by wireless from Capt. Avery.

Four Spanish seamen, attempting to get to New Orleans, were found in the chain box of the Brunswick early Monday. They were placed under arrest and locked in the hold. According to the captain's message the stowaways escaped from the hold with the assistance of a member of the crew. The boatswain ordered them back into the hold. When they refused to obey he attempted to force them and a fierce encounter ensued.

The stowaways were getting the better of the boatswain when other members of the crew came to his assistance. He snatched a revolver from Capt. Avery and opened fire on his opponents.

Juan Mulado, alleged leader of the stowaways, was killed at the first shot. Juan Laramalerrio fell to the deck with a bullet through his chest and Jose Martinez was slightly wounded.

The encounter lasted several minutes and caused great excitement among the passengers of the steamer.

The stowaways who were unwounded were placed in irons, and the ship turned back to Fort Dade to meet the tug Resolute, which had been summoned by wireless.

The prisoners refused to board the tug and Capt. Avery steamed to the fort, where the men were turned over to a military guard.

In a statement one of the stowaways says they did not understand English. He declared that they were suffocating in the hold and forced their way out for self preservation.
